The Institut du Sport Durable works on a daily basis throughout France to accelerate society's transition to a sustainable world.

It uses sport as a lever for action and relies on a committed community. Its action is based on two ambitions.

- Writing new narratives: aware of the current ecological emergency, the Institut du Sport Durable aims to draw on the strength of sport to rethink its model, imagine desirable futures and carry out collective projects for the common good. The Institut du Sport Durable wants to be the voice of those working on the ground to propose an alternative vision of tomorrow's sport.
- Support and training: the Institut du Sport Durable supports sports stakeholders and local authorities in building a CSR strategy. It raises awareness among all stakeholders in the sports movement and professional sport, and provides them with all the keys they need to take concrete action in the face of the climate emergency.
